OF SPRING GOODS

AT Hutchison's Bargain Store.

Now open for your inspection.

The surprising low prices we are making on all kinds of goods this spring rather takes the conceit out of the calamity and high price prophets. Some goods we have never sold so cheap, some others at as low prices as we have ever sold the same qualities for, a few others are still lighter than last season. If you are persuaded to pay high prices for some of the our-goods-are-better-than-any-other-store-and-can't-be-sold-for-any-less-price stores, you are unfortunate, but we can hardly let you foliitate yourself on that belief, that, well, if I did pay more I got better goods and better styles. For you certainly did not examine our offerings and get our prices.

We are prepared to show you one of the largest and best assorted stocks of Dry Goods, Notions, Trimmings and Linings in the city, bought from the largest stock in the United States, where our buyers had range to select styles, qualities and prices. That are not excelled anywhere. By actual count show 600 pieces of Worsteds, Woolen and Silk Mixtures Dress Goods, besides our stocks of Silks, Satins, Velvets, Lawns, Ginghams, Prints, Challies and Domestic. All new and bought this season. We sell the best makes of 100 yard spool silk, all colors, at 7c a spool.

Our ribbon stock is showing the late novelties in Shirred, Corded and Fancy Prices that will please you. The genuine Toile Du Nord Ginghams in neat and dress styles at 5c and 9c a yard. Many novelties in light weight dress goods at 4, 5, 7 and 10c, to 15c a yard. Away below regular prices. China silk at 25c a yard.

100 pieces new China and Japan Floor Matting at prices within the reach of the most economical.

We have it at last—100 piece set decorated Dinner Set of dishes for $5 and $5.50, a saving of $1.50 to $2.00 on a set. A new full stock of queensware for your inspection.

We offer the new Ralston Cook Book for 25c. Everybody has to pay 50c in other cities. You can save the price of it in your kitchen every day in cooking and in health the saving is incalculable.

Ask in grocery department.

Our Grocery Department needs very little advertising, if we took our capacity into account, but we like to tell you do not patronize us to know we are still in the business with a full stock of fresh, pure, reliable groceries at prices lower than elsewhere. Give us a trial and we will convince you.

Hundreds of bargains to show you when you come to see us. Don't forget we can and will save you money on your purchases of Shoes Clothing and Hats, which departments are closing out.

Cheap Homes and Hotels

Owen Langdon Writes of the Efforts That Are Being Made for the Betterment of New York's Poor People.

of Type of the Mills Hotel Guest.

I dined last Thursday night at Mills Hotel No. 2. I had soup, my choice of several kinds of meat, two vegetables, a pudding and a large cup of coffee, with milk and sugar. Bread was unlimited, the tables were clean polished oak with out tablecloths, the food was abundant in quantity and as well cooked as the same articles would have been at the Waldorf-Astoria. It was a perfectly satisfying meal; the cost was 15 cents.

I was interested in the types of men who find the hotel a convenience. There were some country boys with fresh faces and red cheeks, just come to seek their fortunes, but the prevailing type was the man who has failed in business—carefully brushed but well-worn broadcloth, thin faced, with grizzled hair and mustache.

These men live on 50 cents a day; five for breakfast, ten for lunch and 15 for dinner, with 20 cents for a room. If very hard up, they can get along with five cents' worth less of food. There they stay and wait for something to turn up; perhaps doing a little work for old acquaintances, perhaps pensioners upon the bounty of relatives.

I was pleased with the place. These cheap, clean, respectable hotels must be a boon to the poor man who does not like to live in a dirty house more because he is poor. Each has a reading-room, bath and every convenience.

"So you were pleased with it?" said a business man to me; "well, you are easy to please. It is the most melancholy place I was ever in. The continual presence of those wretched shattered carcases is appalling. The sight makes me want to cry. If I were advising a young man just coming to the city, I should tell him to go to a Bowery lodging house instead. It would be dirty, but less depressing. The people would be jollier; and if the dirt was offensive, the young man would hustle the harder to get out."

Tenement Houses.
Mr. Mills has now attacked the problem of providing better tenements for people of the city, where they must live, near their work.

Every model tenement ever built uses the square—or nearly the square—as the unit. If the lots are 100 feet deep, each house is made 100 feet wide.

There is a central Tenement Life, Productive of Neighboring Activities, court by which the apartments are lighted. Besides this, there are wind-downs upon the street, upon the rear and upon the side courts. No room is without an outside window; more than can be said of many expensive flats. A floor of a flat house 100 feet square contains 14 separate apartments, each having a living-room and from one to three bedrooms. The arrangement of the hall is more economical than in old-fashioned flats 25 feet by 85, the rooms are fire-proof makes the upper stories rent better; for poor people know there is nothing more terrible than a tenement-house fire. The houses are expected to yield three per cent., which is satisfactory.

Mr. Mills is the largest partner in the company that proposes to build these houses, but another man must be remembered in connection with them. He is Edward Marshall, the intrepid correspondent who was wounded while with the rough riders at Las Guasimas. Some years ago, when Mr. Marshall was still under 30, he is not much over that now—he personally caused the tenement house bill to be forced through the legislature; he caused a strong commission to be named, of which Richard Watson Glider, editor of the Century, was the most prominent member. Every influence was arrayed against the project; real estate owners feared that it would injure their property and fought it at every turn, but Mr. Marshall's enthusiasm pushed it through. He was named secretary of the commission.

Its work was far reaching. Mulberry Bend, New York's worst slum, was wiped out and replaced by a pretty park. New laws were passed which prevent the building of tenements of the worst kind.

William Waldorf Astor.
William Waldorf Astor has been, since the first of this month, the most talked-about man in New York. He is tall and strongly built, with the muscles of a Hercules and a settled expression of unhappiness. He is to stay but a short time, and his trip is purely one of business.

It is not generally known that Mr. Astor is a lawyer. He studied in the office of Daniel Lord, not with the purpose of practicing, but to fit him for the better management of his vast estate.

agement of his vast estate. Many of our leading financiers began life as lawyers. William G. Whitney was a lawyer and a good one, at one time corporation counsel of New York city. Austin Corbin was a lawyer before he became a banker and then the president of the Long Island railroad and a many times millionaire. Senator Depew was a practicing lawyer for years. Horace Porter, who is a power in the Pullman Car company, is a lawyer.

There is not the slightest danger of Mr. Astor's declining himself a British subject, as was reported. The only thing that could make him waver would be the chance of getting a title and position as a British nobleman, and of this there is not much prospect. Of course he could be made a baronet; anyone can be a baronet by giving a good sum to charity. Hooley, almost made it. But that would not be good enough for Mr. Astor, and the British public would very vigorously protest against any greater honor being awarded to him. He has been extremely unpopular in England since he interfered with vested rights in Cliveden.

Britain is not like the United States. If a rich Englishman closes a footpath that has been for many years a highway there is a tremendous howl about it. Here a rich man can post "No trespassers" signs over the Adirondacks and shut off streams and "carries" that have been highways since the time of the Indians. A rich man can be a despot in the United States.

Now in this the British way is better than ours; but Mr. Astor, being an American and used to the idea that poor folks have no rights, and being by nature selfish.

Society Talks About—

By the way, the family row of the Astors has been patched up. It is said that the Willie Wallie Astors went to England in the first place because Mrs. W. W. Astor, who was then living, was not recognized as "the" Mrs. Astor. She thought this honor hers by right as the wife of the oldest son of the oldest son, Mrs. Astor, the elder thought the name "The" belonged to her by right of seniority. There was a famous summer at Newport, when the distracted postmaster was directed by both Mrs. Astor to send to both houses all letters addressed simply to "Mrs. Astor"—which obviously he could not do. Mrs. Astor, Sr., won, as probably she deserved to do, and the younger woman took refuge in England, where she could be "Mrs. Astor" to her heart's content. She is dead now, poor lady, and there is no reason why her husband should be at "outs" with the dowager of the family.

There is plenty else for society to talk about, now that Lent is over. For instance, the exact size of the fortune of W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., which some say to be $10,000,000. This is probably correct. It is the sum which has in several instances been bestowed upon a young Vanderbilt. W. K., Sr., had that sum from his father as the price of being good and keeping out of Wall Street. Consuelo Vanderbilt, as the duchess of Marlborough, must have the income of an equal sum. George and Frederick are supposed to have had about that amount set aside for them by their father's will. Of course the estate is still administered as a unit.

Another topic: Mrs. Howard Gould, who was Miss Katharine Clemmons, the actress, has a hard task to get into society; but she is beginning bravely and wisely, traveling the best road—charity. The papers are beginning to talk about her East side mission and the poor little children she is befriending. She will "arrive." The guardians of the portals of the "400" cannot keep out a clever and beautiful woman who has millions of money and goes in for charity.

The poor of New York, like of those London, get a good many comforts, much good and undoubtedly some harm, from the efforts of ambitious women to climb the social ladder.

A Bankrupt Husband.

The engagement of Duncan Cameron to Miss Marie Turnure is a rather queer affair. Miss Turnure is one of the most fashionably connected women in New York, and without expectation of wealth. Her intended is a young man about town who was a short time ago brought into court in supplementary proceedings. His creditors despaired of getting any money from him by legal means. This seems like a queer match for a girl of birth, breeding and a fair degree of wealth? By no means, the young man's father, though a simple merchant in New York, is in the aristocracy of Great Britain "Sir Rodrick Cameron." And of course that makes a difference, to a society eaten by anglomania a worse degree than ever before.

For since the Spanish war society has had absolutely no restraint upon its craze for everything English.

SHIPS OF HER OWN.

First Action Towards Purely Cuban Merchant Marine.

United States Has Directed That All Registry Fees Imposed for Documenting Foreign Vessels, in Cuba Be Abolished.

President McKinley, by an order just made public through Assistant Secretary of War McKeljohn, has taken the first important action toward laying the foundation for a purely Cuban merchant marine. As an initial step in that direction he has directed that all registry fees imposed for documenting foreign vessels in Cuba be abolished.

The old Spanish rate for vessels was five dollars per ton, as shown by the vessel's registered tonnage. President McKinley now proposes to abolish all fees. This will not only allow the Cubans to purchase ships in the cheapest markets of the world, but will enable them to build up a carrying trade which they see much need of, and which, by an increase in their shipping, will be a great benefit to the United States.

Cuba has no shipyards. With no stringent restrictions upon the coasting trade, Cuba is expected in time to establish shipyards of her own. But in the interval, although not so intended, ship building nations, such as the United States and England, will more or less profit by the order. Cuban vessels at present are compelled to pay local tonnage dues of only two cents per ton at Cuban ports.

The coastwise trade of Cuba covers a distance of over 3,000 miles. The flag adopted for Cuban vessels is a blue flag with white stripes. Although no reciprocal arrangements have been entered into by which the Cubans can trade with American ports, nevertheless, they are privileged to do so, but, of course, their vessels must pay the same duties as other alien vessels. The United States government does not guarantee Cuban vessels protection outside of Cuban ports, with the single exception of the United States. Should Cubans carry on a shipping trade with Venezuela and Mexico, as some of the owners of vessels have already done, they must take risks that accompany the act.

FROM SEVENTH STREET.

The Little Conqueror Arrives in Marietta and the People are Talking.

Surprise, wonder and admiration follow in the track of "The Little Conqueror." People are talking about it everywhere, and such cases as that of Mrs. J. J. Goldsmith, a resident of Marietta, are getting to be every day occurrences. One representative called on Mrs. Goldsmith at her residence and she gave the following brief account of her case. It is true in every particular and such testimony must carry considerable weight. The doubter must doubt no more in the face of such evidence as Mrs. Goldsmith gives. She says:—

"I am convinced that Doan's Kidney Pills are an excellent remedy, not that I have had occasion to use them, but from the fact that my mother has, and I take pleasure in recommending them for her. It was at her home in Pittsburgh that she first learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, and while visiting here she had me get a box at the drug store of Mr. Meyer on Front street. She was taken with an attack of backache, a complaint she is subject to. She had all the symptoms of kidney trouble and suffered greatly. Doan's Kidney Pills brought relief. Anyone is at liberty to write her in regard to the results and she will be only too pleased to give minute particulars to any lady."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.
